

I like playing with my friends.

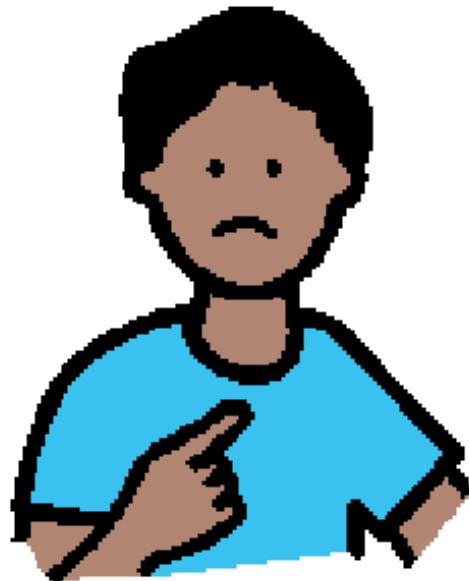

Sometimes my friends and I want to use the same toy. One of us might end up grabbing the toy from the other.

Then we might get mad at each other and fight by yelling or hitting.

I don't feel good when this happens.

I am learning to ask my teacher for help.

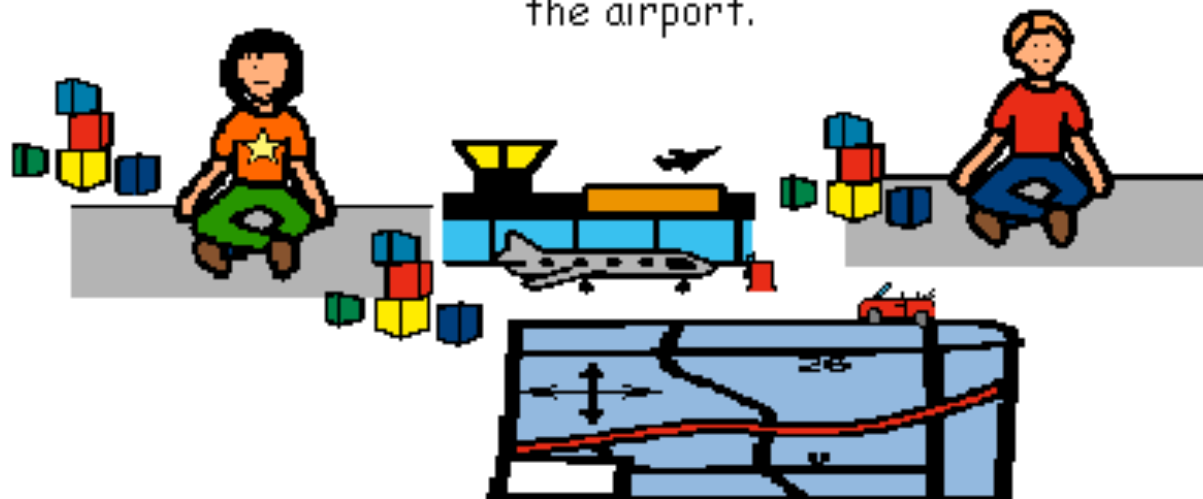

She usually helps us to find a way that makes us both happy.

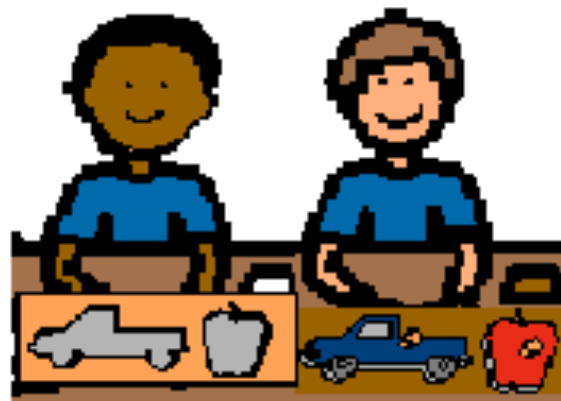

One time Hussein and I both wanted to use Thomas the Train. My teacher showed me that when I'm waiting to have a turn with Thomas, I could drive James to the station.

Another time Haruko and I were deciding what to build. She wanted to build an airport and I wanted to build a gas station. We asked our teacher for help. She asked us what a gas station is for and we know that planes need gas, too. So we made a gas station at the airport.

I like playing with my friends.

Ask for Help and Work it Out

