

Listening to Others

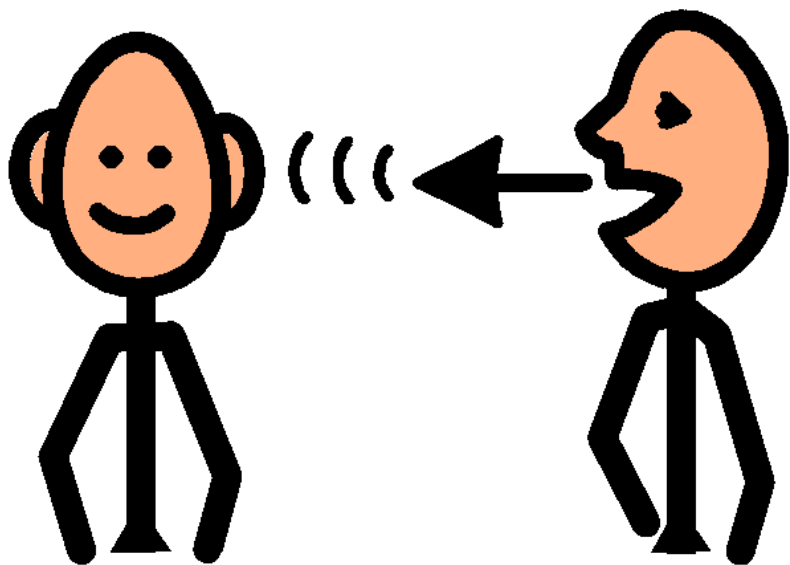

To be a good listener...

Listening is important because it shows others that I care about what they have to say.

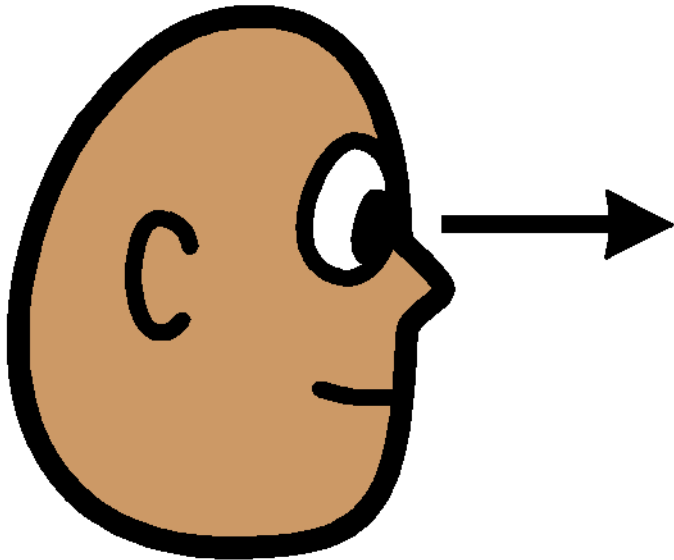

I can wait until the person is done talking and try not to interrupt.

I have to stop what I am doing.

Then, I look at the person talking to me.

I have to be quiet so I can hear the other person.

