Planning for the Future: Creating a Life Your Child Wants

This virtual workshop is geared to parents/caregivers and people with disabilities of any age who want to connect about planning for the future. Families attending can ask questions directly to a panel of self-advocates, family members and service providers and can take away strategies, resources and ideas for working toward goals and dreams. The discussion will include:

- How can you use information, networks and resources to help your child achieve their goals and dreams?
- What are examples of how other families work toward goals?
- Hearing from a panel of self-advocates and family caregivers who will share their planning experiences!
- Hearing from person-directed planners who will talk about what this process is and answer any questions from families
